If you listen closely, you may still hear this church tell its story. For nearly one century this simple yet majestic country church served as the center of worship for the residents of the hamlet of Cementon (Smith's Landing). Since the doors closed in 1998, the church stands awaiting its future. Perhaps a gallery, studio or restaurant awash in the glow of light filtering through the beautiful stained glass windows. Has to be seen to appreciate the limitless potential. Studio apartment, too.
